General Marking Principles for Advanced Higher French Reading

This information is provided to help you understand the general principles you must apply when marking candidate responses to questions in this Paper. These principles must be read in conjunction with the detailed marking instructions, which identify the key features required in candidate responses.

- (a) Marks for each candidate response must always be assigned in line with these General Marking Principles and the Detailed Marking Instructions for this assessment.
- (b) Marking should always be positive. This means that, for each candidate response, marks are accumulated for the demonstration of relevant skills, knowledge and understanding: they are not deducted from a maximum on the basis of errors or omissions.
- (c) If a specific candidate response does not seem to be covered by either the principles or detailed Marking Instructions, and you are uncertain how to assess it, you must seek guidance from your Team Leader.
- (d) Award a mark to each answer. Marks are not transferable between questions.
- (e) The marks available in this Paper are as follows:
  - (i) The first set of questions (worth 23 marks) in Section 1 requires candidates to provide answers based on comprehension of information from the text. The marks available for each question generally range between 1-4 marks.
  - (ii) The last question in Section 1 is the overall purpose question. For this question candidates must draw meaning from their overall understanding of the text. There is a maximum of 7 marks available for full reference to the text and detailed comment. Pegged marks of 5/3/1 are given for degrees of reference to the text and comment. 0 marks will be given where candidates show little or no inferential skills or understanding of the overall purpose of the text.
  - (iii) Section 2 is the translation question (worth 20 marks). For this question candidates must translate the underlined section of the text. The section for translation will be divided into 10 sense units. For each sense unit, 2, 1 or 0 marks will be awarded: 2 marks for a full translation, 1 for partial translation, and 0 for an unsuccessful attempt.
- (f) For questions that ask candidates to 'state' or 'give', candidates must give a brief, accurate response/name.
- (g) We use the term "or any other acceptable answer" to allow for the possible variation in candidate responses. Credit should be given according to the accuracy and relevance of candidate's answers. Candidates may be awarded marks where the answer is accurate but expressed in their own words.

8.			<ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>The purpose of the writer is to inform about the substantial changes being experienced by older people in France and to show these in a positive light.</li> <li>An association is made between living better and in good health with greater longevity.</li> <li>The couple who married at 93 is depicted in a very positive way: they are in love, the husband is "joyeux comme un gamin", and the comment "il n'y a pas d'âge pour être heureux" indicates that you don't have to be young to experience love and be happy.</li> <li>The apparently oxymoronic term "vieux jeunes" suggests that you can reach a great age but still behave and feel like a young person with a great future. The journalist also states that being independent and in good health is the norm and not the exception.</li> <li>The journalist uses statistics, quoted by a scientific expert on longevity, to give weight to his argument that old people are remaining young in their mental and physical states. Once again an oxymoron is used to convey this idea: "l'être humain se meurt vieux en restant jeune."</li> <li>Statistics and an expert in this field, Francis Charhon, are used to lend weight to the argument that isolation can be a real problem for the elderly.</li> </ul>	7	Pegged Marks	Criteria
					7 OR 5	The candidate provides a clear, concise and reflective answer, drawing inferences which are entirely appropriate, analytical and which demonstrate a sophisticated and accurate reading of the text. The answer clearly relates to the advice given in the Expected answers column, or any other equally appropriate response.
					3 OR 1	The candidate provides an answer which may contain some degree of misreading, but which offers evidence of appropriate inferencing skills. The candidate may, however, tend to supply information from the text with little attempt to draw inferences.
					0	The candidate's answer simply provides information to be found in the text with no attempt to draw inferences.

			<ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• However, this negative aspect of old age is quickly redressed by the description of the positive impact of social media and Facebook. Quoting the concrete example of the elderly individual Paul Thielen's experience of Facebook is very effective. The psychiatrist Roland Jouvent's comments on the entirely positive influence of social media in eradicating isolation and the statistics showing the number of elderly people using Facebook lend further weight to the positive depiction of old age in France.</li> <li>• The conclusion is entirely upbeat - these retired people are "retraités internautes" - this expression has overwhelmingly positive connotations as it suggests being up-to-date and trendy.</li> <li>• The leitmotif of the oxymoron "vieillir jeune" carries through to the conclusion with the journalist's wish to convey that you can be young at heart even though you are old in years.</li> <li>• The conclusion is positive as the journalist exhorts us to follow the example of the elderly couple who have married and who exemplify the message that we must love life: "Il faut aimer la vie."</li> </ul>
